NSL pulls out its players; tourists to play each other?

The NSL dropped a bombshell yesterday (Tuesday) when it informed acting ASF president Ian Brusasco that it was withdrawing all of its players from the Socceroo "A" and "B" squads to play against Juventus of Turin, Manchester United, Iraklis, Glasgow Rangers and Nottingham Forest in a big international socio-Forest in a big international series due to kick off in Sydney this Satur-

An understandably disappointed South Australian coach Mike Wells still praised his charges.

championships were a dis-

For ACT, however, it was its greatest ever championship. And Canberra's was a talent-loaded side due mainly to the presence of ex-Als youngsters and players from the Canberra Arrows youth team.

On a step by step basis this is how the teams progressed.

ROUND ONE

GROUP A: Victoria 1 (Spink)
W.A. 1 (Burke); Queensland 3 (Barry, Armit, Carnavas) NSW 1 (Hale).
GROUP B: South Australia 3
(Papadopoulos, O'Connor, Stamatelopoulos) d'Tasmania 0; ACT 2
(Maricic, Bernal), Northern NSW 2
(Mortham, Stawart).

ROUND TWO

GROUP A: Victoria 4 (Kotz Ichalis, Spink, 2, Tasios) usensland 2 (Barry, Scriggins sw South Wales 4 (Thornthwalt Drien, Lampropoulos) Wests ustralia 1 (Greer).

GROUP B: ACT 1 (Bernel) d outh Australia 1 (Miller); Tearnania (Dennia) d Northern NSW.

ROUND THREE

GROUP A: Victoria 5 (Spink four, Asrkovac) NSW 0); Western Aust-nia 2 (Nickolakia, Dowley) Lusersland 1 (Barry). GROUP S: ACT 5 (Larpond 2, Asrkick, Kulcaar, Bernal) Tasmania (Richman); South Australia 2 Panagia, Millar) Northern NSW 1 Zamaroni.

In the final round, the ACT gained third spot with a victory over Western Australia to the tune of 2-1, Kenyon scored for West Australia and Marica and Australia and Australia and Barry (2), Carnavas, 2, Bassinwajiet and Byrne were Queensland's scorers while Dennis scored for Tasmapia.

The mitch between the bottom teams was much closer, with NSW needing penalty kicks to beat Northern NSW after a 1-1 draw.

For the champlon, Victoria, of course, it was a great team performance — one that striker Warren Spink (AIS) will long remember.

With seven goals to his credit, he was the champlonship's leading individual scorer.

Juventus of Turin comes to Australia as the winner of the 1984 European Cup Winners

The Italians play their first game in Australia, against Manchester United at the Sydney Cricket Ground on Wednesday, June 6.

They won the Cup Winners' Cup by beating Porto of Portugal 2-1 in the final in Basel last week, with goals by Beniamino Vignola and Zbigniew Boniek.

Juventus will play a three-match series against Australia A (see programme, page 7) but first, the international season opens with Australia v Manchester United at the SCG on Saturday and Australia B v Glasgow Rangers at the MCG on Sunday.

Without detracting from the other tourists, Juventus undoubtedly will be the top drawcard. The reason is that it has men like these:

STEFANO TACCONI: Signed from Aveilino to replace the legendary Dino Zoff, he kept clean sheets in each of his first four games. Has subsequently established himself among the Italian League's most consistent goalkeepers.

CAUDIO GENTILE: A rugged, much-capped right back who was born in Libya: hence the nickname "Gadaff". He joined Juve from Varese in 1973. Positioning, concentration and strength of tackle mark him as one of the world's best defenders.

ANTONIO CABRAINI: Long established as an integral part of both Juventus and Italy's back four, he joined the Zebras from Atlanta in 1976 and made his international debut two years later. The only player to miss a nenath in a World Cuo final.

and made his international debut two years later. The only player to miss a penalty in a World Cup final.

MASSIMO BONINI: A native of the tiny republic of San Marino, he had made 9 appearances for Italy's under 21 team before UEFA decreed him not eligible for "Azzurri". Now a naturalised Italian citizen, the exciting midfielder aceams assured of a fine future.

SERGIO BRIO: A consistent stopper, who is particularly strong in the air, he has yet to win an international cap. Joined Juventus from Lecce in 1974, then wonter-hoan to Pistolesse and helped them gain promotion from Serie C.

GAETANO SCIREA: One of the world's "ap sweepers, he was Italy's 1931 Footballer" of the Year. Initially an inside forward, but converted to defender after moving from Automato Juve in 1974.

CLAUDIO PRANDELLI: Another recruit from Atlanta (in 1979), though Cramonese was his original club. A midfielder who has yet to stablish imiseff in Juve's star-studded line-up.

constructions was nis original club. A midfielder who has yet to establish himself in Juve's star-studded line-up.

MARCO TARDELLI: "Man of the Match" in the 1982 World Cupfinal, he was known for much of his career as a "hard man", having accumulated an appalling disciplinary record, but now widely acknowledged as a player of outstanding ability. Usually plays in midfield, but equally at home in a full back role.

PAULO ROSSI: Brilliant, but enigmatic, striker who earned permanent place in soccer history with heroic performances during World Cup of 1982, the year he was Europe's Footballer of the Year.

ZBIGNIEW BONIEK: He has been overshadowed somewhat by Michel Pitatin since the two joined Juvenus in 1982, but is undoubtably a player of immense ability. Probably the best player produced by Poland, his original club was Widzew Lodz.

DOMENICO PENZO: Signed from Verona last vaar descite as tand, his original club was Widzew Lodz.

DÖMENICO PENZO: Signed from Verona last year, despite approaching the veteran stage. He previously served Romulea, Roma, Bari and Brescia. A hard-working striker.

BENIAMINO VIGNOLA: Signed from Avellion last year, but this utility player has had few opportunities in Juve's first team.

GIOVANNI TRAPATTONI (MANAGER): Won 17 caps for Italy as a left half and also was a member of AC Milan teams which won two European Champions: Cups and the Cup Winners' Cup. After two years as Milan's chief coach he moved to Juventus in 1976 and must be regarded as a prominent figure during one of their most successful eras.

Big chance for the alsorans in Cup

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Everyone has a chance to win in the National Cup! With so many players on national team duty, the traditional giants have national team duty, the traditional giants have turned into pussy cats.

Even struggling Wollongong looks good for a victory when it meets St George Budapest at St George Stadium on Sunday.

And Sunshine-George Cross also stands a good chance in this competition, following its 3-0 victory over Juventus, and because of the inclusion of guest player Ross McLaren from Shrewsbury Town.

Sydney Hakoah, South Melbourne Hellas, St George and Sydney Olympic will field vastly weakened teams in the Cup — teams which will include many youth players. And so we have to look to the clubs not affected by the international series — clubs like George Cross, Melita Eagles, Brisbane City, Green Gully, Blacktown, Sydney Croatia, and also Canberra, although it will miss Tony Franken and Frank Farina.

Marconi also must be considered. It will miss Tory

Croatia, and also Canberra, although it will miss Tony Franken and Frank Farina.

Marconi also must be considered. It will miss Tony Henderson, Tom McCulloch and Joe Rizzotto, but it has a lot of players, so it may be able to cover the gaps adequately enough for the four-week Cup series.

The Teams have been split into groups for this competition, as follows:
GROUP ONE: Adelaide City Juventus, Blacktown, Sydney Hakoah, West Adelaide Hellas.
GROUP TWO: Canberra, Melita Eagles, Penrith, Sydney Olympic.
GROUP THREE: APIA, Newcastle-Rosebud, St George Budapest, Wollongong.
GROUP FOUR: Brisbane City, Brisbane Lions, Marconi, Sydney Croatia.

GROUP FIVE: Green Gully, Heidelberg-Alexander, Melbourne Croatia, Makedonia.

GROUP SIX: Juventus, Pootscray J.U.S.T., SM-Hellas, Sun. George Cross.

The six group winners plus the two best runners-up will qualify for the quarter-finals on June 4, 6, and 7.

The semi finals will be played on Jun 9 and 10 and the final on June 16 or 17.

Bradley's Man of the Franken had been tied on 40 votes each before last weekend's NSI. round.

The next NSI. round isn't until the weekend of June 23 and 24, and the current

National Cup games don't count in this award, so Bradley can enjoy his star billing for at least a few more weeks.

John Kosmina's stunning hat-trick for Sydney City Hakeah against St. George Budapest last weekend kicks im three goals clear of Olympic's Peter Katholos in our Boral Bricks $1,000 Top Scorer award.

New coach Willie Gallagher has the side organised and has lifted the morale. The way it harried and hussled Heidelberg out of its rhythm in the first half, the team will provide headaches for even the well-established sides once the league re-starts in four weeks' time.

To add to the early shock, Newcastle's tactics of closing down early on opponents in midfield and at the back put Heidelberg off list stride and the Bergers did not create their first real scoring chance until six minutes from the end of the half.

Jim O'Reilly was back in the team after injury, as was Don McLaren who missed last week's game due ot suspension, so Billy Wilkinson had a full squad to select from.

On the other hand, John Margaritis had his problems, and had to resbuffle his defence, due to the absence of suspended John Dowie and the injured Harry Hird. Replacements Vince Bannon and Edgar Campbell did reasonably well (particularly the latter), or at least as well as most of the Juventus regulars. The second half opened with some pressure from Juventus. Joe Sweeney blasted a pow-erful shot just past the post.

However, any hope Juventus may have had, was quashed in the 55th minute, when Ossie Latif won the ball from Vince Bannon and his low cross was put away by Don McLaren.

David Lowe licked a free kick by Tommy McCulloch through a sea of legs to give Marconi the lead after only three minutes of the match in what most believed would be a one-sided affair at Bossley Park.

However, this goal stood as the only difference between Marconi and Lions at the end of 90 minutes of the most forgettable exhibition of socre. Marconi looked good for about 10 minutes at the start of the match, then slowly but surely the visitors took hold of the proceedings in midfield and looked to have the better of the game for most part. What hampened to that brisk game for most part.

What happened to that brisk start that gave Marconi the lead and what happened to that midfield of Marconi that did so well in the past few outings at Marconi Stadium is anyone's guess.

I suggest that the introduction of Attilio Carbone, an out-of-form player, was an error. In fact, Carbone looked completely worn out by the time the game was 60 minutes old but no replacement was found or at least offered.

Mark Jankovics struggled up front and I am sure will be very happy to return to midfield where he played with such success earlier this year. With Tommy McCulloch making an unusual number of errors. it was Craig Mason

With its engine room coughing and spluttering Marconi rarely offered an organised attack. And while the dis-

With Russell Stewart commanding proceedings in the middle of the Park, Lions had a lot to say for most of the match with Joe Cairney having an ideal opportunity to put the visitors on equal terms. He managed to beat Craig Mason then faced James but shot straight at the keeper from an angle.

Marconi could have had the game sewn up after Lowe broke through in the 35th, but his cross to Rod Brown was wasted by the tall striker. Only a few minutes later, Robert Farrow was at the feet of Brown to save. Both of Marconi's raids came after good work by Mason.

With the wind at its back, Lions went strongly at Marconi's goal. Russell Stewart belted a scorching drive past Bruce James in the 56th only to see his shot rebound off the crossbar, then in came Cairney, on the left side of the penalty area, pushing his shot past James, only to see Paul Carrer clear off the line.

Marconi could have face in the saved face in the saved by Farrow, then in came Rizzotto with yet another break before finding Jankovics metres from the line. Farrow dived at the feet of Jankovics to save.

Claude Lucchesi hadn't scored before this match. Now he's Makedonia's top scorer of 1984 so far.

Almost everything he touched turned into a goal. Not only did he score four himself, but he also provided the pass from which Graham Heys notched Makedonia's fifth. National coach Frank Arok, who had dropped Lucchesi from the national squad, watched him on TV and declared. "He was like some Brazilian."

Gary Cole missed at least five; Con Opasiis had one disallowed over offside, goalkeeper Gary Sproul saved from Zarko Odzakov and Lucchesi, Housoulis Cleared one from Zarko Odzakov and Lucchesi, Housoulis Cleared one from Lucchesi was in the middle when Lucchesi was in the middle wanged a few other Lucchesi was in the middle unmarked, begging for it. West Adetalde Hellas's form this year suggested there had been a marked improvement, been a marked improvement, been a marked improvement and the middle, which was an indictment of Hellas's centre-backs Neil McGachey and Graham Honeyman. Although both are highly talented and eminently experienced, they stopped virtually nothing. I believe it was a mistake to take off big Chris Manou during the second half. If nothing else, at least he provided a powerful presence in the middle, and while he was on the Gelef, Honeyman and Coffeely, had cover in front of them. But with Honeyman moving forward to help build attacks, and none of the remarking midfelders capable of playing defensively, Hellas was ripe for the picking.

And make no mistake — the bones- of the Hellas players were picked clean during the one-way traffic of the second half. It was as if a swarm of vultures were hovering over vultures were hovering over the Hellas defence, eager for a big feed.

When Ian McGregor was switched from left back to the left wing, and Hellas relied mainly on the offside trap as it pushed forward, hoping for a few goals, Makedonia did virtually as it liked. But by then, the match was over anyway.

Had Cole not missed so many, the result would have been the most embarrassing in NSL history.

Makedonia now is unbeaten for four weeks and according to Lucchesi, for one, it must be regarded as favorite for the National Conference championship.

Robbie Dunn and Ian Dobson are playing powerfully in defence, as is George McMillan (as uaual). The fans who were delighted enough just to see the ball going into the net so often, probably don't realise that it was Dobson's aerial presence in the penalty area that contributed to two of the goals.

And it appeared to take a last-minute deflection sufficient to edge it into the far left hand corner out of the grasp of Tony Franken.

Straight from the re-start Canberra allowed striker Graham Arnold to burst through in a one-to-one with young Franken for Arnold to lift the ball over the diving 'keeper's body.

Then the pressure began. In the 22nd minute Frank Farina, Canberra's best player, burst hrough with sheer pace and in a one-to-one with goalkceper Steve Watson hammered a fierce dive from just outside the penalty area which Watson saved brilliantly.

Earlier front-runner Alan Reis had nodded a cross just over the bar and later in the first half a Steve Bryant corner totally deceived goal-keeper Watson but right back Brett Woods cleared off the line.

Sydney Olympic, led by its national front-line of Mar-shall Soper, Peter Katholos and Jim Patikas, looked dan-gerous on forward move-ments but lacked finishing in front of goal.

Katholos almost broke the deadlock in the 77th minute.

His low drive was parried by McPherson. From the en-suing corner, Katholos re-ceived the ball and his scor-

Melita's back four of Kenny Wilson, Howard Tredinnick, Colin McAusland and Bobby McGinn were in fine form for the home side and continually broke down threatening Olympic raids.

Melita coach Raul Blanco was delighted with the result and praised the team's defensive effort.

"They had three shots at goal in the 90 minutes. A signo of a good team is that they can defend as well as attack" he said.

Manfred Schaefer, the Sydney Olympic supremo, was disappointed with the lack of finishing from his team.

"If our Australian front

In the next few weeks there are going to be some great games between Australia "A" and "B" against the touring team—Juventus, Iraklis, Manchester United, Glasgow Rangers and Nottingham Forest. Boy, are the tourists going to be tough opposition!

Personally, I'm absolutely delighted to be back in the national team and I'm really looking forward to playing with the "B" team against these great overseas sides.

Few can argue that the "B" team boasts some very talented players. In fact, I've got no doubts at all that there's little to choose between the "A" and "B" teams.

Sadly, perhaps, for everyone other than Merseysiders, Watford, the sentimental favorite, was comprehensively and professionally beaten by the book-makers' favorites in the 1984 FA Cup final.

And it could all have ended so differently, if only Watford had been able to take advantage of its superiority in the opening 15 minutes or so when Neville Southall's wonderful reflexes and Les Taylor's narrow miss were all that prevented the Hornets from taking the lead. But, Callaghan had a nightmare of a game, Johnston was strangely subdued, and Barnes, apart from forcing Southall into a desperation stop with his feet, never shooe as an England winger should.

Centre-half Steve Terry inevitably backpassed to Sherwood, sometimes from as far as 30 yards, and Sherwood would stand, equally inevitably, with the ball in his hands, as everyone ran away from him, before he gave it the big wellie up the park, from where the Everton defenders gleefully belted it back again. The game didn't end so much as peter our miserably, and for once in my soccer-watching life I found myself longing for the final whistle.

And the "B" team coaches, Eddle Thomson and John Margaritis, also are keen to do well. The whole squad is really together. I'm confident that we'll produce good results.

Poor Arno Bertogna

What about the sorry situation Arno Bertogna, the APIA stopper, finds himself

He was fighting hard to get into the national team and just when he makes it, he finds out that he can't get time off work. How unlucky can you get?

I really can't understand the attitude of some employers. If Arno had been a crick-teer or a Rugby League player selected to represent his country, I'll bet you that he would have got time off. But not for soccer!

I experienced the same problem late in 1982. And I was working for Philips In-dustries at the time, the sponsors of the National League!

I wonder if an official letter from the ASF to Arno's employer would make any difference. It's worth a try.

National disaster?

The National Cup is going to be played during this big international series and after talking to a few soccer fans in Mel-bourne last week, it seems that the gene-al opinion is that the Cup will bomb out as

The one benefit to clubs of running the Cup while so many of their top players are unavailable due to national team duty, is that a lot of youngsters can be blooded. And the established players not in the national squads will be kept ticking and maintain match fitness thanks to the National Cup.

But I reckon that the National Cup should never have been scheduled at the same time as these internationals. It's just an idea, but what's wrong with play-ing the Cup under lights midweek, after the international series is over?

It works in Sydney's Rugby League where the Tooth's Cup is run midweek and there are enough good grounds, well floodlit, to cope with a National Cup being run along these lines.

dates and even results — unless they stand out for some reason.

Even old line-ups escape me. But I have no difficulty recalling some of the greats who had graced touring teams to Australia since 1950.

Remarkably enough, it's not always the most famous and most celebrated stars who shine on these off-season tours.

Going back over the years — more years than you care to go back on — some giants step out of the past: Matthews, Law, Yachin, Pele, Albert, Neeskens, Beckenbauer.

They all appeared in Australia and, in Sydney anyway, failed to cause all the predicted and expected excitement.

If cast my mind back on some 30 years or more of international soccer, it's some other names that I remember fondly.

Australia.

Langdon was so irresistible on that day that the Australian fullback marking him halfway through the second half, simply walked off the pitch.

Langdon, of Botton Wenderers, did play a number of times for England — but never reached the immortal heights of a Finney or a Marthews.

Except on that 1951 Australian tour!

Then I jump to the Rapid team of 1955 in which vo brothers, the Korners, were as dazzling strikers i you wish to see.

In the post-Federation era my first supersitar ws Torpado Moscow's midfielder, Bradney, in 1965. This tall, powerful fellow, built Like a middle-weight boxer, arrived totally unberalded, as did the rest of Torpado. Nobody in Australia knew the names of their players until after their lending at Mescot.

A year later I was stunned to see Bredney miss-ing from the Soviet World Cup team in England. As they didn't have any player half his class, I could only assume that he was either injured — or out of favor with the authorities.

Brattislava, like other top teams, was brought out here by the now defunct Prague club, mainly its two stalwarts. George Warner and John Domebyl.

two stativarts. George Warner and John Johnsoly.

Bratislave was a polished, occasionally Prilliant side with world stars such as Schrolf — but in the Sydney matches the man who stole the show was fix tall, elegant dark-haired playmaker Jokid — a Czechoslovak international though never quite the star one would have expected.

Bobby Charlton stands out for me from the 1967 Manchester United team — and mainly because of a display of his against Queensland in Brisbane.

I forget a scorenow — it was big — but I won't forget the way Charlton was spraying his passes 40 metres, with clinical percision and then, for good measure, thundered a 33-metre piledriver past the sprawling Ross Kelly in goal.

I saw Charlton a few times during the 1968 World Cup nd then again in the final of the 1968 European Cup — but I shall always remember his Brisbane display.

In Sydney he gave a preview of his prowess— and a few days later in Adelaide he destroyed Austalia, earning an ovation from the crowd which actually carried him off the field.

Rangers however have made little impact in the Champions' Cup — silver-ware which has already graced the Celtic board-room.

Having completed the first stage of the revival under Jock Wallace, salveying a domestic trophy from the 1983-84 campaign, Rangers will be hoping for a sustained assault on the League Championship next term and then creditability as a European power.

Should the momentum be maintained, and there is no apparent reason why it should not, Australian fans will be seeing a team on the threshold of yet another exciting era.

the ladder after being beaten 7-0 by Inter

Monaro at Seifert Ova

In fact, Bankstown

National has crashed to the bottom of the ladder after its sixts straight loss!

For Inter Monaro it was no more than a training run on a damp Sunday afternoon with its players blazing past yet another side on their way to hitting top spot on the NSW State League ladder.

However, the State League is taking a rest this weekend and while Bankstown-National will look forward to the break, Manly and Inter will prepare for the Match of the Year at Seifert Oval when they clash on Sunday, June 3

Should Manly leave the
A.C.T. with a point, then it will have enhanced its chances for this year's premiership.
Early favourite Sutherland
Shire slumped to yet another unexpected draw and is five points off the pace, but only a point outside the top four and still in with a chance of winning something this year. But before Sutherland considers itself a candidate for the premiership it must find another top striker!

In the match against Polo
nia, both sides had chances,

top striker!

In the match against Polonia, both sides had chances, with Polonia more than matching it illustrious oppo-matching it illustrious opponent.

Rockdale-Ilinden had its own share of problems against the much improved Ku-Ring-Gai at Parklands Oval and it took a great 25 metre drive by Nastevski in the dying minutes of the match to salvage a point for the favoured Rockdale-Jimmy Bottalico, recently recruited from APIA, replaced Silli Pilovski in Rockdale's line-up, the result of series of poor performances by Rockdale's star defender.
And while all the hustle and

's star defender.
And while all the hustle and And while all the hustle and bustle goes on about the leaders and those who fight to stave-of relegation. Auburn Uruguay has settled into fourth spot after a draw with Warringah Narabeen. Auburn had more of the play dand should have won but its forwards failed to find the net and subsequently had to be satisfied with a point.

Yet another goal orgy by Inter Monaro lifted the side to a two point lead in the NSW
State League, but more significantly pointed out that all those travelling to the A.C.T.
must expect a similar treatment.

must expect a similar treatment.
Walter Valeri started the rout with the opening goals in the 15th and 21st minutes, while Tony Brennan and Billy Willox added one each before Willox added one each before half time to end the first half on the same note as against Canterbury the previous week. The strength of this Monaro side was indicated by its replacements: Brennan came off at half time with an injury and was replaced by Sebastian Giampaolo! And while most State League clubs are struggiling to find a suitable 11, inter Monaro has some fine names in its reserve side. Santoline of the Popovic, tiampaolo the Popovic, tiampaolo the Popovic, tiampaolo the benche Park had NSL experience.

Bankstown National, the side that looked to be a top four contender after three rounds, with five points on the board, slumped to its sixth successive defeat, and its display at Selfiert Oval was absolutely world!

There was a moment of hope at the start of the second period when Bankstown came out with determination and even managed a shot at goal, but the light went out fairly soon and Inter Monaro proceeded to administer three more goals to conclude proceedings with Monteroso, Colbertaldo and Willox these the start of the scorers.

It is significant to note that Colbertano and scorers.

It is significant to note that Inter Monaro does slow down considerably in its matches, especially at the start of the second half. That's just as well for Bankstown!

To counteract its latest debacle, Bankstown National's administration has decided to appoint an assistant coach. Actually Bankstown is a fair side, it's just lacking in a bit of cohesion and fighting spirit

Yugal 1 Avala 1

Scorers: Milne 10th, Pahor 38th. Vanue: Fraser Park.

Vanus: Frase Park.

In an even game, played before a few hundred spectators, Yugal and Avala shared the spoils. An almost friendly attributed with about 20 minutes of play left when Mark Turkoglay of Yugal and Gary Bateman of Avala were sent off. The charge will be fighting, but apart from some pushing it appeared that the referee took an unudually strong view of the incident.

mandually strong view of the incident.

For Turkoglou it was an unhappy moment as that was hit last game in Australia. He returns to his native Tyurkey this week.

And while searching far and wide to find a suitable replacement for hard tackling Turkoglou, Avala must ponder on its inability to score goals. Gary Milne scored with a fine header after 10 minutes but one had the impression that Peter Berry took a "nap". Branko Kodor centred from 40 metres and the ball took a material sign of the ball took a metres and the ball took a long time coming with Berry glued to his goal line and watching Milne head powerfully.

Eddle Pahor replied for Yugal after 38 minutes. He dummied his shot, then with the Avala defence standing, planted his shot wide of Ahrens to equalise. Chris Thamnides, Yugal's off-season purchase from Canterbury, was Yugal's best player, while Budini and Mackenzie in the centre back positions stood tall amongst Avala players. Avala's mid-field is settling down and will prove decisive in matches to come. The side has now climbed off the bottom of the table collecting five out of six points in its last three outings.

NSW State League with ALEX VESIC

Ku-Ring-Gai 2 Rockdale Hinden 2

Scorers: Brown 4th, Bass 33rd, Jeffrey 65th, Nastavski 86th. Vanua: Parklands Oval

Parklands is getting tougher for most clubs to take points from. Despite Ku-Ring-Gal's seemingly desperate position, Vic Dalgleish, the coach of Ku-Ring-Gal, is confident that his team has turned the corner this year.

Sure, the side is now sharing bottom spot with Bankstown, but it is only a point away from seventh place, indicating just how even the teams are in State League.

State League.

In fact, Ku-Ring-Gai looked set to take both points late in the game at Parklands. Leading-2-1 with only four minutes to go, the side fell to a superboal by Nastevski. the net after only two minutes, but the goal was disallowed for an infringement inside the area. Two minutes later, the visitors scored through Brown.
A shot by Branko Karanfilovski rebounded off the crossbar and fell to the feet of Ross Brown who slammed it back into the net.

Ku-Ring-Gai gradually got back into the match and after 33 minutes was on level terms. Glen Jeffery won the ball in the air, 25 metres from goal, to nod it into the path of Craig hitting home a strong cirve.

Bass, and the rest was simple. Bass ran into the area before hitting home a strong drive.

About 20 minutes into the second half, Jeffery latched onto a good through ball by David Bennett to score, then chances fell both ways before Rockdale scored the equaliser. A header by Jeff Wilson was brilliantly saved by Prentice, then Jeffery beat the keeper at the other end only to see Bottalico clear off the line!

Alan Bourke had the chance to put the issue beyond doubt in the 85th minute. A cross by Andy Tracey was headed over the bar by Bourke from close range, then came the equal-iser.

Prentice was certainly the hero of the locals as he repea-tedly saved his side with some fine saves, while Branko Ka-ranfilovski played some scin-tilating soccer to taunt Ku-king-Gai's defence.

Canterbury 1 Manly Warringah 1

Scorers: Holloway 34th, Dounis 34th. Vanue: Arlington Oval.

Top four contenders Manly and Canterbury battled the conditions at Arlington Oval finish on level terms with Manly certainly the better side for most part and with more opportunities to score.

opportunities to score.

Both goals came within 30 seconds of play in the 34th minute of the first half, with Mark Holloway notching his eighth goal of the season following a corner kick by Dudley Fox, then Louis Dounis equalising at me other end with a strong drive.

Manly had most of the play and chances in the opening stanza Mark Holloway and Dudley Fox had as many as five opportunities between them but failed to beat El Zein, then Canterbury got on top in the second half to make life difficult for Chris Cassetari.

Significantly, Manly made a

Manly could look back at its chances during the first period and wonder about its chances for the championship. Holloway, its trump card up front, missed in the 1st, 14th and 24th

Vic Juchniewicz, the most recent signing by Polonia, would have been the toast of the Polish backed club but for a miss in the closing stages of this match.

Juchniewicz, still a little rusty after a long lay-off, played a fine hand in his team's 0-0 draw with Sutherland but could have covered himself in glory with 10 minutes remaining. Anton Galas started the move, finding Wojtek Nowak who in turn found Henjek Sobezyk. A quick one-two with Lumsdaine and Sobezyk was in the clear before pushing the ball to Juchniewicz close to goal. However, he missed and a glitade of the solution of t

Sutherland had its own prob-lems up front. Most of the blame for the loss of yet anoth-er point rests on Ian Barker's shoulder, Polonia's brave goalkeeper. In fact Barker played with no less than three suspected fractures, but threw caution to the wind to dive at opponents' feet like a man possessed.

Polonia's short passing game and quick interchanges baffled its opponent at times, while Sutherlands' usual speed and stamina was sadly missed up front, yet again.

Johny Lavin must be wondering what to do to score goals. Only three goals in the last four matches is not do enough for a side presenting to be champioaship resembled to the state of the back combinations, not only in State League. Its midfled with, Harrington and Stoddart controlling traffic, looks solid enough but up front, oh boy; what a top flight striker would do in this team!

appointing against top-olttable Polonia.

Early misses by Polonia strikers Janusz Przybyla and Noel Mitten, when both certainly should have scored, put Polonia under pressure to convert its dominance in the first 30 minutes into goals. Pines came into the game and had their best spell in the last 15 minutes of the first half.

But back to those misses Mitten had been put through after a good exchange between Joe Tront and Les Gregorczyk with Gregorczyk playing the bail to Mitten whose shot whisted over from close in.

what of egorczyk, playing the ball to Mitten whose shot whistled over from close in. It had been Przybyla's turn two minutes earlier. After a fine interpassing movement involving Rick Lipiarski, Mitten and Przybyla, the latter, with just Dave Stuchbury to beat, drove the ball over the Pines' bar. So the sides went in at the half time break, deadlocked at took place in the first half, Polonia led with three nutmegs to Pines' one.

Three minutes into the second half Przybyla scored the goal which saw Pines fade from the game.

A fleere Stefan Mila drive from 30 metres found Stuchbury failing to hold and Przybyla chipped the boal over the fallen keeper to make it 1-0.

Polonia increased its lead in the 57th minute, when Gregorczyk rolled the ball to the edge of the box for Mitten to sidefoot past the advantiga Stuchbury into the far corner of goal.

Around the 70th minute, a series of unbelievable misses and goalmouth scrambles

Around the 70th minute, a series of unbelievable misses and goalmouth scrambles culminated in Peter Thurlow clearing off the line from a Gregorczyk effort and Stuchbury saving with his feet to deny Przybyla. With four minutes left, Przybyla notched his second and Polonia's third. A quickly taken throw-in from the right went to Dave Gibson, whose cross was headed on by Przybyla witten won the ball in a clash with Stuchbury, allowing Przybyla to pounce and tap in to the empty net.

THE DAY OF RECKONING FOR MURRAY'S MEN!

Quite a few people at Box Hill think that the club can win the 1984 State League championship. If they're to be proven right, then the Hillmen must beat top-of-the-table Po-lonia at Wembley Park on Saturday.

Saturday.
Clearly, Polonia and Faw-kner are two of the best sides in State League and it's up to the likes of Box Hill and Morwell Falcons to prove that they've got what it takes to match strides with the top match strides with the top two.

The Hillmen go into the game sightly frayed about the edges after their 8-9 draw with Doveton last weekend.

Box Hill coach Bill Murray will spend this week wondering whether Don Brownlie or Dean Hennessy should partner David Brooks at the heart of Box Hill's defence, knowing that leading State League performer Noel Mitten represent a real threat to the home side.

Danny McCluskey, making only his third full appearance for Polonia this season, starred at centre half alongside the great Stefan Mila last weekend as Polonia beat Frankston Pines 3-0.

Frankston Pines 3-0.

The Mila-McCluskey combination confronts Peter Verechia and Steve Smith on Saturday, a contest which will have a major bearing on the outcome of this crucial match.

Polonia is the only undefea-ted side in State League and a draw at Wembley Park wouldn't be a bad result for John Gardiner's charges. However, knowing that it's make or break for Box Hill, I'm going to stick out my neck one last time and tip the Hill-men to win. If so, they'll really open up the race for the title.

The contours of Selwyn Park aren't very inviting, as Faw-kner will find out on Saturday when it takes on Albion Ro-vers. However, Ian Tuffield will be back in the Fawkner line-up and his renowned head-ing ability should prove too much for the home side.

Albion welcomed Scottish midfielder Tom Purcell last Friday. He only came on in the second half against St Albans Dinamo but is a certain starter here. Fawkner's midfield strongman Peter Boyle is bound to give Purcell a warm welcome to the rigors of the Victorian State League.

Ringwood Wilhelmina coach Rudy van Altena is confident that his side can at least gain a point from its trip to the Lat-robe Valley on Saturday to take on fourth placed Morwell Falcons. I don't share Rudi's confidence.

shatered by its shocker agains' St Albans the previous week.

In fact, if Mike Rainey hadn't been on his toes the scoreline would have been far more emphatic.

To complete Croydon's tale of woe, Peter Killey put Fawkner's third goal on a silver plate with an unbelievably limp backpass.

Fawkner's decisive victory leaves Croydon languishing in the lower reaches of State League and unless City show a vast improvement, particularly at home, its prospects of making the top four holds grim. The game itself was patch, and the state of the zini's arms.

Ex-City player Hobson, with his deadly accurate long throws, was the architect of Fawkner's second goal, dropping the ball precisely on to the head of Michael Giacomi who nodded home amongst a

With minutes to go, Bruno Cozzella collected a bad back
